About Connects for employees

Go back to Performance and Development home page

The About Connects for Employees HRweb page outlines our approach to Connects as one way we support high performance and help activate a growth mindset, a central element of our culture at Microsoft.

Understanding Connects

Connects help you do your best work by clarifying impact, tracking progress, identifying learning opportunities, and aligning on goals through meaningful performance and development conversations. Give and receive feedback throughout the year to support meaningful reflection.

Two to three Connects per year is optimal (timing based on organizational timelines). Follow the steps below to have productive Connect conversations that drive stronger performance and development outcomes; refer to Sample Connects to illustrate the type of information and commentary you can include in a Connect.